

The Israel-Palestine Conflict

Searching for New Solutions; the Role of the UN, Civil Society, and Denmark

28th January 2016

15.45-20.00

Landstingssalen, Christiansborg Castle

FN
forbundet
Danish United Nations Association

Program

16.00 – 16.15: Presentation of Conference Program and Opening Statements

- Lave Broch, Chairman of the Peace and Conflict Committee, Danish United Nations Association
- Holger K. Nielsen, former Foreign Minister, Member of the Danish Parliament, Socialist People's Party (Denmark)

16.15 – 17.15: How can the UN contribute to a resolution of the frozen conflict and promote a solution accepted by all parties?

- 16.15-16.30: Leila Stockmarr, PhD, Political Advisor, The Alternative (Denmark)
- 16.30-16.45: Peter Viggo Jakobsen, PhD, Researcher at the Royal Danish Defence College
- 16.45-17.15: Panel Discussion: Moderator, Steen Nørskov, Middle East Correspondent, Danish National Broadcasting Corporation

10 minutes break: Coffee/tea

17.25 – 18.45: How can civil society strengthen the weaker parties in the conflict?

- 17.25-17.35: Jonatan Møller Sousa, the Danish Zionist Federation
- 17.35-17.45: Representative of a Palestinian viewpoint (to be confirmed)
- 17.45-17.55: Jakob Erle, Director International Academy for Education and Democracy, former Director, Danish Egyptian Dialogue Institute
- 17.55-18.05: Poya Pakzad, Political Communication Advisor, ActionAid Denmark
- 18.05-18.45: Panel Discussion: Moderator, Steen Nørskov, Middle East Correspondent, Danish National Broadcasting Corporation

15 minutes break: Sandwiches

19.00-19.55: How can Denmark ensure a continued focus on the conflict and relevance of the UN?

- 19.00-19.15: Laila Naraghi, Social Democratic Party (Sweden), Political Advisor appointed by the Swedish Foreign Minister
- 19.15-19.30: Jonathan Nielsen, Parliamentary Candidate, Member of Hillerød City Council, Liberal Alliance (Denmark)
- 19.30-19.55: Panel Discussion: Moderator, Steen Nørskov, Middle East Correspondent, Danish National Broadcasting Corporation

19.55-20.00: Concluding Remarks: Lave Broch, Chairman of the Peace and Conflict Committee, Danish United Nations Association

Admission fee: 45 DKK